January Sale of Bedding: Mattress Prices Representative.

JANUARY sales of this character are planned for one purpose: To keep our Mattress factory force busy during the dulllest period of the entire year. Lowered prices for standard work are the inducements. Owning a good supply of raw material purchased when market prices were more favorable than they are to-day, we are enabled to quote exceptionally low prices. As in other years, we round out the sale lines with specially-priced Sheets, Pillows and Comfortables. Starting with the Mattresses—Every Mattress turned out of our factory is a hand-made Mattress—carefully built and filled evenly. Unlike machine-stuffed Mattresses, these are permanently shapely and resilient.

At $10.00—Mattresses sold elsewhere at $20.00—same grade as is furnished to the United States Government; 4½ feet wide; 5-inch border, full 40 lbs. weight; covered with best quality A. C. A. ticking, stuffed with No. 1 grade gray drawings—sterilized, sanitary and odorless—unbleached and undyed.

At $15.49—Mattresses regularly sold by us at $18.49; same grade sells elsewhere at $20.00; 4½ feet wide; 5-inch border, full 40 lbs. weight; covered with best quality A. C. A. ticking, filled with pure South American hair—odorless and sanitary.

At $7.49—Mattresses regularly sold by us at $9.46; same grade sells elsewhere at $12.00; 4½ feet wide, with 5-inch border, full 40 lbs. weight; covered with best quality A. C. A. ticking, filled with selected long mixed hair.

At $4.96—Our regular $5.99 Mattress; full size, covered with good quality ticking, with soft layers of cotton on top and bottom, filled with pure African fibre.

FLORIDA DIVORCE DISPUTED.

Mrs. Knight Tests It Here by Bringing a Suit of Her Own.

Mrs. Anna Knight has begun an action in the Supreme Court for a divorce from H. Leland Knight, to whom she was married at Ossining twelve years ago. They have been separated for six years, she says, because she refused to live with him on learning of his infidelity with another woman. Knight went to Florida after they parted, and she saw nothing of him until September last, when he called to inform her that he had got a divorce in Florida in February, 1904, and had since married one Loula Brownson. Mrs. Knight says she has never been to Florida and was never served in this State. She has begun an action, naming the second wife as co-respondent and denying the validity of the Florida decree. Knight, she says, is living at Jacksonville.

Lenity for a Foghorn.

Foghorn Tom Ryan, who has sold newspapers at the Brooklyn Bridge for eight years, pleaded guilty before Judge Foster in General Sessions yesterday of larceny. He stole a pin from Dr. Henry Fruittight of 954 St. Nicholas avenue in the Ninety-sixth street subway station. "I was drunk," he said. Judge Foster suspended sentence. A number of Brooklyn customers of Foghorn Tom interceded for him.

POWERS OVER FRANCHISES.

Appeal From Decision That Legislature Could Take Them From Aldermen.

The decision of the Appellate Division sustaining the constitutionality of the bill transferring the franchise granting powers of the Aldermen to the Board of Estimate is to be appealed from. Lavin L. Kellogg counsel for the Tammany Aldermen, who took the case to the courts, said yesterday that the matter would be carried to the Court of Appeals. It is understood, however, that this further appeal will be a friendly one. The Tammany Aldermen who struggled to regain their franchise giving authority are now in a minority in the board. The purpose of carrying the case to the highest court in the State is to get a ruling from that body so that there can be no cloud on franchises which may hereafter be granted by the Board of Estimate.

Alleged Beggar Wore Diamonds.

Rose Cohen, 67 years old, of 57 Orchard street, was arraigned yesterday in the Essex Market police court by Detective Nusiek, who said she was a professional beggar. She wore diamond earrings and had a lawyer. The Magistrate adjourned the case until he can have her children brought before him to explain why they let their mother beg.

OVER $65,000 WORTH OF FURS AT HALF VALUE

Annual Sale Involving a Prominent Furrier's Entire Stock: The Largest Quantity of Fine Furs We Ever Engaged To Handle In a Yearly Sale of This Character.

THE manufacturing Furrier depends upon cold weather to sustain profitable prices for his product. The growing scarcity of all classes of skins forces him to pay higher prices for the raw pelts, and he must gamble on having good weather when the time comes to market his finished furs. All plans went wrong this season because the weather has been extraordinarily mild.

A prominent Furrier, whose surplus stocks are always given to us for our Annual Fur Sales, was easily prevailed upon to unload four weeks earlier than usual. He readily accepted HALF REGULAR PRICES for the Furs and we are passing them along to you on that basis. It is the largest sale stock we ever engaged to dispose of. Only an establishment like Macy's—the greatest retail store under one roof in the world—could attempt to distribute such an enormous lot at this season of the year.

And they are fine Furs, standard in every way. With the Muffs and Neckpieces we are placing various Furs from our own regular stocks—chiefly Women's Fur Coats—and offering them at HALF VALUE. The sale has no parallel

The Wanamaker Store

Best---Best---Best MUSLIN UNDERWEAR

That is the verdict presented, after the most thorough and exhaustive search throughout Greater New York, by a corps of expert critics.

The Wanamaker Sale of MUSLIN UNDERWEAR Is—

BEST in ASSORTMENTS—Nowhere else is there evidence of such extensive preparation. Nowhere else is there a collection of White Garments to be compared in extent with the assemblage that occupies space on three floors at WANAMAKER'S.

BEST in CHARACTER—Nowhere else is there to be found special-priced Underwear of such refinement, made in such ample sizes, displaying such careful workmanship—and at the same time so fresh and clean.

BEST in VALUES—Here are prices as low and lower than elsewhere; but always on garments that are infinitely better in muslins, workmanship, and neatness of the trimmings.

True, there is much advertising, that would lead one to suppose that other stores have done all that WANAMAKER'S has accomplished. But words are the slaves of whoever uses them; and they serve all kinds of masters. One shopper expressed her disappointment by saying, "The Under-Muslins offered by _____'s are not what one would expect them to be from reading their advertising. They are not new goods, but old stock marked down. The garments offered in these other 'special sales' have yards of cheap, coarse lace and embroidery as trimming; only a very few are found that could be called dainty and attractive."

Right there is the keynote of the tremendous Wanamaker success. Every piece of Underwear is as fine and beautiful as its price will allow. But there is no skimping of sizes, or over-loading with cheap trimming, to make pretense of value.

On the lower-priced French Underwear there is very little trimming, but every stitch of embroidery, and every stitch of seam is taken by hand—and women love it the moment they see it.

Another feature of the White Sale that is unmatched elsewhere is the splendid collection of GARMENTS for INFANTS and CHILDREN. Nowhere else is there such variety—nowhere else such exquisitely dainty, and such practical garments, so neatly and comfortably made, and so very low in price. There is not a mother in the land who will fail to be delighted when she comes and realizes what splendid underwear and dresses are to be had at such small cost.

The main showing is on the Second Floor; the lower-priced garments are in the Basement Under-Price Store; and there are special groups on the Main Floor. There are also many splendid offerings today in kindred garments—Dressing Sacques, Robes, Silk Waists and Petticoats, and the like. Don't skip the details because we have to print them in small type. All have been newly and specially made, and are worthy of this great occasion:
